SLOVAK FILMS FOR SK PRES

From July 1 to December 31, 2016, Slovakia holds presidency of the Council of the European Union. Slovakia will take over the presidency for the first time in history.

On this occasion, Slovak Film Institute will introduce a special collection of Slovak films on Blu-rays, aimed to support the Slovak cultural presentation during the presidency. The selection includes five archive films: The Boxer and Death (Peter Solan, 1962), The Sun in a Net (Štefan Uher, 1962), Birds, Orphans and Fools (Juraj Jakubisko, 1969), I Love, You Love (Dušan Hanák, 1980), A Path Across the Danube (Miloslav Luther, 1989), and five representative titles from the independent era of Slovak cinema: Everything I Love (Martin Šulík, 1992), Paper Heads (Dušan Hanák, 1995), The Power of Good - Nicholas Winton (Matej Mináč, 2004), Blind Loves (Juraj Lehotský, 2008) and Soul at Peace (Vladimír Balko, 2009).

The film collection will serve for promotion purposes only and will not be for sale. Slovak Embassies and Cultural Institutes will use it for non-commercial film events during the presidency period. Each of the Blu-rays contains subtitles in six languages (English, German, French, Spanish, Italian and Russian), Slovak subtitles for deaf and hard-of-hearing (SDH), and a booklet with additional information about the films.
